Certification Reimbursement Policy

Sample document for the LMS Skills Intelligence Engine. The company and every rule below are fictional.

1. Which certifications are covered

The company reimburses the exam fee for professional certifications that support a skill required by the employee's current role or recorded career goal. Examples are cloud certifications such as AWS, data certifications, and project management certifications.

2. Approval before the exam

The employee requests approval from their manager in the LMS before booking the exam. The request names the certification, the exam date, the fee and the skill it supports.

3. How much is reimbursed

The exam fee is reimbursed in full for the first attempt, up to 300 euros per certification. A second attempt is reimbursed at 50 percent. Training materials and travel are not covered by this policy.

4. Claiming the reimbursement

After passing the exam, the employee uploads the certificate and the receipt in the LMS within 30 days. The certification is added to the training history and the employee should ask for a skill re-assessment.

5. Leaving the company

If the employee leaves the company within 6 months of the reimbursement, the fee is paid back to the company.
